

December 9, 1948.

Memorandum to: Mathias Correa
William Jackson

From: A. W. Dulles

Everything is now set to devote Tuesday and Wednesday, December 14 and 15, to a thorough review of our report. I can hardly over-impress on you the amount of work we have to do during the next two weeks if this report is to meet the requirements that we should set for it. Frankly, I think we will have to decide here and now to give almost continuous attention to it from now until we finish it.

I suggest we meet at 10 o'clock at my office, 48 Wall Street, on Tuesday, December 14. I will provide some stenographic help but it might be worthwhile if Matt Correa's secretary could stand by, subject to call, if we need her.

Bob Blum will bring a rough copy of the completed report and such background material from the files as we will need, particularly the Security Council directives, basic legislation, etc. I understand LaRoche will be available and also, if needed from time to time, Sprague and Sachs.
